□ Learning and innovation skills increasingly are being recognized as those that separate students who are prepared for a more and more complex life and work environments in the 21st century, and those who are not. A focus on creativity, critical thinking, communication and collaboration is essential to prepare students for the future. □ (P21)

The Power of Creativity in 21st Century Learning

By integrating working and learning, people learn within the context of their work on real-world problems. Models of education based on the work of B. F. Skinner and F. W. Taylor are inadequate for the lifelong learning needs of the 21st century (, 5). There is not a scientific, best way to learn and work because real problems are ill-defined.
