In Canonizing Paul Eric W. Scherbenske explores how ancient editorial practices utilized in the publication of corpora were employed not only to shape editions of Paul's letters, but also to shape their interpretation. Scherbenske reveals the interrelationship of text and paratext in the Marcionite, Euthalian, and Vulgate editions of Paul's letters, and fills an often overlooked gap in the field of New Testament textual criticism.

Canonizing Paul - Eric W. Scherbenske - Oxford University ...

This dissertation investigates the use of the Corpus Paulinum as a vehicle for transmitting interpretation of Paul's letters. By utilizing practices developed in antiquity for the preparation of an author's corpus, such interpretation was conveyed via three main channels: the text and contents of a corpus along with ancillary materials to this corpus.
