Death Is a Lonely Business is a mystery novel by American writer Ray Bradbury, published in 1985. The story, set in 1949, is about a series of murders that happen in Venice, California, then a declining seaside community in Los Angeles where Bradbury lived from 1942 to 1950.

Death Is a Lonely Business - Wikipedia

Death is a Lonely Business is Ray Bradbury's addition to the noir mystery genre. Told with all the requisite intrigue and catchy simile and metaphor, Bradbury nevertheless cannot be mistaken as anyone but himself. Like an actor who is cast in an odd role, Bradbury remains the sentimental, kooky writer, and that is a part of this novel's charm.

Death Is a Lonely Business Analysis - eNotes.com

Bradbury is an incredible story teller, Death is a Lonely Business is (to my knowledge) one of the only noir-esk stories that he ever wrote, and it's absolutely fantastic. I highly recommend, even if you don't get a collectors edition, that you read this story.

The best of Ray Bradbury I've been reading Bradbury's writing for about 10 years now and I've always enjoyed his books and short stories, however, "Death is a Lonely Business" is my new favourite. It has all of Ray's spectacular charm while contemplating such a pertinent topic - loneliness - and how differently it affects all of us.
