The EULAR Textbook on Rheumatic Diseases found its origin in the successful EULAR On-line Course on Rheumatic Diseases. Its yearly updated reviews of the total of fifty modules form the content of this book. For a balanced view, each chapter is written by two dedicated expert rheumatologists from two different European countries. Most of them are assisted by a junior doctor or researcher from their own department in order to stimulate a focus on modern educational goals and techniques.

Background and objective There is an urgent need for robust data on the trajectories and outcomes of pregnancies in women with inflammatory rheumatic diseases (IRD). In particular when rare outcomes or rare diseases are to be investigated, collaborative approaches are required. However, joint data analyses are often limited by the heterogeneity of the different data sources.
