Naive Bayes classifiers are a collection of classification algorithms based on Bayes' Theorem. It is not a single algorithm but a family of algorithms where all of them share a common principle, i.e. every pair of features being classified is independent of each other. To start with, let us consider a dataset.

~~Naivete | Definition of Naivete by Merriam-Webster~~

Naive Bayes is a family of probabilistic algorithms that take advantage of probability theory and Bayes' Theorem to predict the tag of a text (like a piece of news or a customer review). They are probabilistic, which means that they calculate the probability of each tag for a given text, and then output the tag with the highest one.

The positive intention behind the belief in negative intention and the rejection of the notion of 'positive intention' is undoubtedly "protection." People who reject the notion of positive intention are often afraid of either being or appearing 'naive'. They also often feel helpless to change anything. Without the mastery of the appropriate NLP skills, people simply end up feeling, "If they ...
