The RevTech is a bit of a hybrid in some manors. the engine even though it is a "dry sump" style engine can hold more oil in the crankcase than a standard Harley. Now at the bottom of the sump plate, there are two set screws facing outward. They are directly connected to the oil sump and system. You may pull those and find a fair amount of oil.

Had it in 3 days, oil change in 15 minutes, no problems since. The oil capacity depends on your oil bag, not the motor. I put 3 quarts in initially, but then on my oil change I called Harold to check on the amount to put in since a certain amount always remains. He said 2 3/4 quarts should be fine.
